Washer Tank For Marine Cameras

Accessories

OSTANKAABB

The WPN400 washer series offers a wide range of water reservoir capacities with different pumping height capabilities. The tank is protected by a frame in AISI316 stainless steel. The washer units are provided with an IP66 rated watertight plastic junction box that contains the power supply for the self-priming submersible pump located inside the tank. The optional float switch prevents the washer unit from running dry and causing damage to the pump. It is wired into the washer power supply unit so when the water level drops to a specific level the power to the pump is cut. The alarm output can be connected to the camera to indicate when the bottle needs refilling.
